Notes for James Richardson:

James was the youngest child of James Cope Richardson and Louise Townsend Bakewell Richardson. As a child, James lived in Borocup House, built by his father in 1885 in Lichfield, England. He left Borocup House to live in the Mill House with his wife Annie Burtt. The family photograph taken outside Borocup House in 1910 includes the children and grandchildren of James and Louise.

James was in the milling business with his father and traveled extensively by ship to Western Canada on business. On one of his trips he visited his son John Buckland Richardson in Stirling, Ontario. John's wife, Edith, had recently given birth to twin girls, Phyllis and Peggy.

In late 1922, James retired from "Millennium Mills and Wharf" and bought Wren House, built by Sir Christopher Wren in Warminster. James and Annie lived there until 1937.

James was an artist of some talent and enjoyed antique collecting. He made many etchings, including one of his mother on her 80th birthday, several of the interior and exterior of Wren House and several of Cathedrals in England.

In 1937, James and Annie came to Canada and the United States to visit their sons John in Toronto and Henry in Passaic. After six months James returned to England to sell Wren House and ship their furnishings to Toronto, where they had purchased a house. He even shipped his printing press, but it was never used as in less than a year James died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Notes for Annie Holmes Burtt:

Annie Holmes Burtt's parents and grandparents were Quakers. Her grandfather, William Daubeney Holmes was a Civil Engineer and Naval Architect of some note. Her father was Henry Burtt, a farmer and devout Quaker who regularly attended Friends Meetings for worship and for discipline until his death at the age of 95. (see "The Burtt's - A Lincolnshire Quaker Family")

Annie Holmes Burtt married James Richardson, son of James Cope Richardson at Fulbeck Church (Anglican) in Lincolnshire. Her older sister, Henrietta Mary was married in a Quaker Service at Broughton Meeting House in 1895 to Henry Richardson, son of James Cope and brother to James.

Annie Holmes Burt and James Richardson had three children who survived, John Buckland, Henry Burt, Margaret and a twin born prematurely when Annie was home alone. She told her granddaughter, Phyllis, she could only save one twin and chose the biggest baby.

Margaret emigrated to South Africa with her husband Godfrey Thomas. Annie twice visited her daughter when she was ill, travelling alone by sea for several weeks and was sea sick most of the time.

Annie also visited her Canadian grandchildren, her son John Buckland's family in Belleville, Ontario when the twins, Phyllis and Peggy and John were young children.

After James died in 1937 in Toronto, Annie remained in their home with the companionship of her two granddaughters, Phyllis and Peggy who lived with her alternately until 1942 when Phyllis enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force (Women's Division) and Peggy went into training as a nurse.

Annie Holmes Burt Richardson, or Granny, as she was known by her grandchildren and great-grandchildren, lived independently in an apartment for some years. After which, she shared the home of her son John Buckland and his wife Edith. When she was 89 years old Annie came to live with her granddaughter Phyllis and her husband Bob in their home and remained there until her death in February 1970 at the age of 96.

Granny was greatly loved by all who know her. She was always patient, uncomplaining and tolerant. She remained a Quaker at heart, although she attended the Anglican Church with her husband James.

Annie never returned to England but kept up correspondence with her daughter, Margaret, and grandson, Douglas in South Africa, her niece "Tommy" in England and her sister Henrietta in New Jersey until she was in her 90's. She had good health, except for arthritis, until her death of heart failure.

John Buckland Richardson was the eldest of three children of James and Annie Holmes Burt Richardson. In 1917, he joined the war effort in England. He was trained as a pilot in the Royal Air Force and was shot down over Germany, where he was detained in a prison camp for six months until the end of the war. After the war he worked in London for the Millenium Mills and Wharf, where his father James Richardson was Vice President when he retired in 1922. He immigrated to Canada in March of 1921. His bride-to-be Edith Annie Everard followed in August of 1921 and they were married on September 8, 1921.

They lived and worked on a dairy farm near Stirling, Ontario for two years - not finding it an easy life. After the twins, Phyllis and Peggy were born in 1922, they moved to Belleville, Ontario, a small town nearby where John was born, 14 months after the twins in 1923.

In 1927, John, Edith and their family moved to Passaic, New Jersey, where they lived and worked with Hubert Richardson of the Richardson Scale Co. until 1933. While living in Passaic, their youngest daughter, Joanne, was born in 1927. They then returned to Canada and settled in Toronto, Ontario where John Buckland operated a heating business.

When the war broke out in 1939, John Buckland enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force as a recruiting officer. He remained in the Air Force for six years while stationed in Victoria, British Columbia, Winnipeg, Manitoba and Debert, Nova Scotia. After his discharge in 1946, he returned to his former career as a heating engineer for 25 years until his retirement.

John and his wife, Edith, spent many happy summers with their family at their cottage which he built north of Toronto on Horseshoe Lake. John Buckland died at 72 from cancer of the liver.

Notes for Edith Annie Everard:

Edith Annie Everard was born in Chelmsford, England in 1893. In 1920, she left England to come to Canada to marry John Buckland Richardson. She left behind her parents, two brothers and one sister.

During the early years of their marriage money was scarce and she was never able to visit England in spite of being very homesick. She was very happy when in her 90's a nephew and wife came to visit her from Chelmsford.

Edith never worked outside the house, but she helped her husband in his business and raised four children during the hard financial times of the Depression. When John Buckland enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1939 and was stationed far from Toronto, she remained in their home until he returned. They bought a summer property soon after on Horseshoe Lake in the Haliburton Highland and frequently travelled to Florida for winter vacations.

After John Buckland's death, Edith sold their home and moved into an apartment. After some years she moved into a nearby seniors residence and lived there in good health until her death from heart failure at the age of 93 in 1986.
